START HERE — 1989 Archive Guide for Researchers.

Purpose

Canonical publication package for the five-language public research guide mapping archives, universities, government repositories, audiovisual collections, and digital portals relevant to the 1989 Chinese democracy movement.

Repository scope

Harvard-Yenching Library; Columbia C.V. Starr East Asian Library; Stanford Hoover Julia Tung collection; Stanford Hoover Kathy Wilhelm collection; UCLA Library Special Collections; Library of Congress; IISH Amsterdam; George H.W. Bush Presidential Library; George Washington University National Security Archive; UCLA Film & Television Archive; UK National Archives; Academia Historica Taiwan; University of Chicago; University of Toronto; CSUN; National Archives of Australia; USC U.S.-China Institute as a digital research/teaching portal.

Critical provenance note — Columbia Box 10, Folder 29

The item titled “外高联代表联合宣言,” dated June 1, 1989, is not treated as an authenticated 外高联 or 北高联 instrument. Attribution, authorship, provenance, and organizational authority are under active challenge. The described document lacks personal signatures. Preliminary participant research led by Lian Shengde finds that the 外高联 and 北高联 participants consulted were unaware of the document’s existence in 1989. The item surfaced to this research project around Aug. 27, 2026. This remains a preliminary research finding, not a final forensic adjudication. Columbia custody proves collection possession, not authenticity of claimed organizational origin. Follow-up targets: accession/donor provenance, full color scan, signatures/seals/issuer information, reverse-side/envelope context, and broader participant testimony.
